

GRIFFIN BEST FOR ONE DAY AT CLEVELAND; FAIL IN BOSTON

Washington Experiences in Hub City This Season Have Been Unfortunate to a Game.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—The Griffins are resting here today before entering upon their triple scrap with Lee Fohl's Indians. Again on the Western half of the circuit, the courage of the boys has appeared, and one and all declare that the four clubs out here will have to pay for those defeats back in Boston, home of the coming champions. More or less fatigued from their long ride, the Griffins loafed about the hotel, not caring to stir themselves. The movie fiends plan a rushing business for tonight, though.

That defeat in Boston was the final drop in the bucket of Griffin's unhappiness. He had counted on winning at least one game from the Red Sox at Fenway Park, and he was considerably disgusted when the gods of war decided against him. Eleven games have been played by the Griffins in Boston, and not once have the Capitols come out on the long end. The Red Sox have replaced the Mackmen as the official jinx for the Nationals.

Manager Griffin stayed in Boston to see the dedication of the Braves' new park, at Allston, tomorrow. The Old Fox will twist the first ball to George Stallings when the game between the Braves and Cardinals is started, and the ball or strike will be counted in the official score.

Plans had been made in Boston to entertain one of the largest crowds of baseball players, managers, owners, and writers that has ever assembled outside of a world's series. Owner Gaffney has a reputation in two leagues for entertaining, and nearly every invitation was accepted. Every member of the Baseball Writers' Association of America was invited.

Even if the Braves fail to win the flag in the older league this year, the world's series will be played at their park, provided the Red Sox are victorious in the Johnsonian circuit. President Gaffney has offered his new stadium to the Griffins, and the Red Sox chief has gladly accepted the offer. This will assure $3,000 fans seats for the title combat, a sum which will be a big help to the Griffins in their financial straits. The world's series in the past, 1912, 10,000 fans were seated along Lewis Cliff, the stadium bank, and a municipal stadium in the Hub forbidding a million temporary wooden seats in such a manner will cut down the attendance by $10,000. Gaffney's offer means, therefore, greater receipts than ever at less expense to Lannin.

The final skirmish in the Hub proved a defeat for the Griffins, 1 to 0. Gallia pitched good ball, really better than in the last game, but the Griffins' offense proved disastrous. In the opening sacrifice fly sent him over with the lone tally of the combat.

Marlin Kopp, the Canadian leaguer, smacked the first ball pitched for a sweet single through the box to center field. He amped up, and when Foster doubled him up, Barry making a brilliant stop, Milan whiffed. Hooper caught the first pitched ball and threw it to center field. Barry's long fly to center field was a double. Milan's long fly to center field was a double. Milan's long fly to center field was a double.

With one down in the second, Gandil tore off a single to center. Acosta followed with a single to center. Barry's bad throw. Henry's fly to Speaker ended it all. Gardner singled with one gone in the third. Barry popped to Foster. Speaker overran Foster's single opening the fourth. Barry popped to Speaker. Speaker overran Foster's single opening the fourth. Barry popped to Speaker. Speaker overran Foster's single opening the fourth.

Acosta opened the fifth with a walk, but after Henry skied to Lewis, McBride forced the Cuban with a bounce. Wood, Gallia drew a free ticket. Kopp beat out a single. Barry, Scott, but Empire Wallace waved him out, becoming a target for the entire Washington dugout.

Barry made a spectacular stop of Foster's drive close to the middle. Speaker and Scott ran. Milan ripped a sacrifice to right and stole. Speaker walked. Gandil's best was a single. Wood, advancing both runners. Acosta tried hard, but Barry had no trouble handling his grounder. Another good chance to score had gone by the board.

Gallia pitched great ball after that opening frame. Following the single by Gardner in the second the Red Sox came up and got down in order, not one able to do much. Wood, Kopp, and McBride performed some pretty stunts in support of Gallia. Meanwhile, Wood sacrificed to right. Barry, Kopp, and McBride performed some pretty stunts in support of Gallia. Meanwhile, Wood sacrificed to right.

Shanks tore open the ninth with a double to right. Barry, Kopp, and McBride performed some pretty stunts in support of Gallia. Meanwhile, Wood sacrificed to right. Barry, Kopp, and McBride performed some pretty stunts in support of Gallia. Meanwhile, Wood sacrificed to right.
